Art Unit: 3735

An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Laura Johnson on May 6, 2010.

The application has been amended as follows:

In the claims:

Claim 88 has been rewritten as follows:

-- 88. (currently amended)

A device for measuring a glucose concentration in a host, the device comprising:

a sensing mechanism operably connected to an electronic circuit and configured to continuously measure a signal associated with a glucose concentration in a host for a period of time; and

a membrane located over at least a portion of the sensing mechanism, wherein the membrane is configured to control a flux of oxygen and glucose, wherein the device is capable of exhibiting, at a glucose concentration of 400 mg/dL, no more than a 10% drop in sensor output over a range of pO_2 from 150 mm Hq down to 30 mm Hq. –

Claim 96 has been rewritten as follows:

96. (currently amended) A device for measuring a glucose concentration in a host, the

Application/Control Number: 09/447,227

Art Unit: 3735

device comprising:

a sensing mechanism operably connected to an electronic circuit and configured to continuously measure a signal associated with a glucose concentration in a host for a period of time; and

a membrane located over at least a portion of the sensing mechanism, wherein the membrane is configured to control a flux of oxygen and glucose, wherein at least 95% of glucose concentration values measured by the signal are within 25% of one or more reference values over a useful life of the device, and wherein the one or more reference values are determined by analysis of blood. —

Claims 116-133 have been canceled.

First, claim 88 was amended to remove the words "about" as the support in the specification was only for 400 mg/dl and 30-150 mm hg exactly.

Second, the examiner noted that in reviewing the specification, material for the membrane was disclosed as a silicone polymer, a polycarbonate, a polyurethane, and block copolymers thereof. Therefore, the examiner noted that there was a written description problem with claiming that the membrane comprised all three of a silicone polymer, a polycarbonate, and a polyurethane, as applicant has not disclosed enough species of membranes using all three materials to allow one skilled in the art to know that they were in possession of all possible membrane using the three materials. As a result, Ms. Johnson and the examiner agreed to delete any reference to the specific material for the membrane from the claim.

Art Unit: 3735

Third, the examiner and ms. Johnson discussed the Zhang et al article entitled "In vitro and in vivo evaluation of oxygen effects ..." cited by applicant on 5/6/2010.

Figure 3 and the associated discussion show the variation in sensor output as glucose concentration increases. The claimed data point was at 400 mg/dl, which corresponds to 22 mM. This data point is not shown in figure 3. The article does state that sensor B was linear to 30mM and that at 15 mM, the variation in sensor output from 7.6-150 mm hg was 5%. However, there is not enough information provided to determine what the change would be at 22 mM. Therefore, the claims define over this article.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: Claims 88-95 and 112-113 are allowable in that none of the art has a sensor that meets the 10% drop in sensor output criteria, as defined in the claims.

Claims 96-103 and 114-115 define over the art in that none of the art has the accuracy standard claimed, i.e. 95% of the data within 25% of one or more reference values. While the prior art may meet this, none of the art discloses it.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
